25

DEFINITION OF COMMUNICATION

A Communication is the process of exchanging information, ideas, thoughts, opinions, or messages between and among individuals, groups, or organisations through a common system of symbols, signs, or behaviour

B COMMUNICATION SKILLS

Comskills refer to the ability to effectively convey and receive information, ideas thoughts, and opinions through various forms of communication, including verbal, nonverbal, written and visual.

Key Communication Skills

1. Verbal Communication - The ability to express oneself clearly and effectively through spoken language (orally).
2. Nonverbal Communication - The ability to convey meaning through facial expressions, body language tone/voice, and other nonverbal cues such as dressing, etc.
3. Listening Skills - The ability to ~~convey meaning~~ actively listen, understand and, respond to others.
4. Written Communication - The ability to express oneself clearly and effectively through written language

5. Interpersonal Communication — The ability to communicate effectively with others, including colleagues, clients, and customers.

6. Public Speaking — The ability to communicate effectively with a large audience (with confidence).

7. Conflict Resolution — The ability to use effective communication to resolve conflicts and disagreements.

8. Cultural Competence — The ability to communicate effectively with people from diverse cultural backgrounds.

C EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION SKILLS (CHARACTERISTICS OF EFFECTIVE COM.)

1. Clarity — The ability to communicate clearly.
2. Conciseness (brevity) — The ability to communicate ~~de~~ briefly and to the point.
3. Accuracy — The ability to communicate correct (accurate) and reliable information.
4. Simplicity — The ability of making the information simple to comprehend.
5. Empathy — The ability to understand and respond to the needs ~~of others~~ and feelings of others (Being compassionate)

6. Adaptability – The ability to adapt communication styles to different audiences and situations.

7. Respect – The ability to communicate with respect and professionalism.

8. Feedback – The ability to give and/or receive constructive/appropriate response to complete the communication loop.

9. Completeness – All necessary information is provided.

10. Timeliness – Message is delivered in a timely manner.

11. Active Listening – Receiver pays attention and responds thoughtfully.

D. KEY ELEMENTS OF COMMUNICATION IN THE COMMUNICATION PROCESS

1. Sender – The person or entity that initiates the communication process. Also called the encoder who encodes info / the speaker/writer, etc.

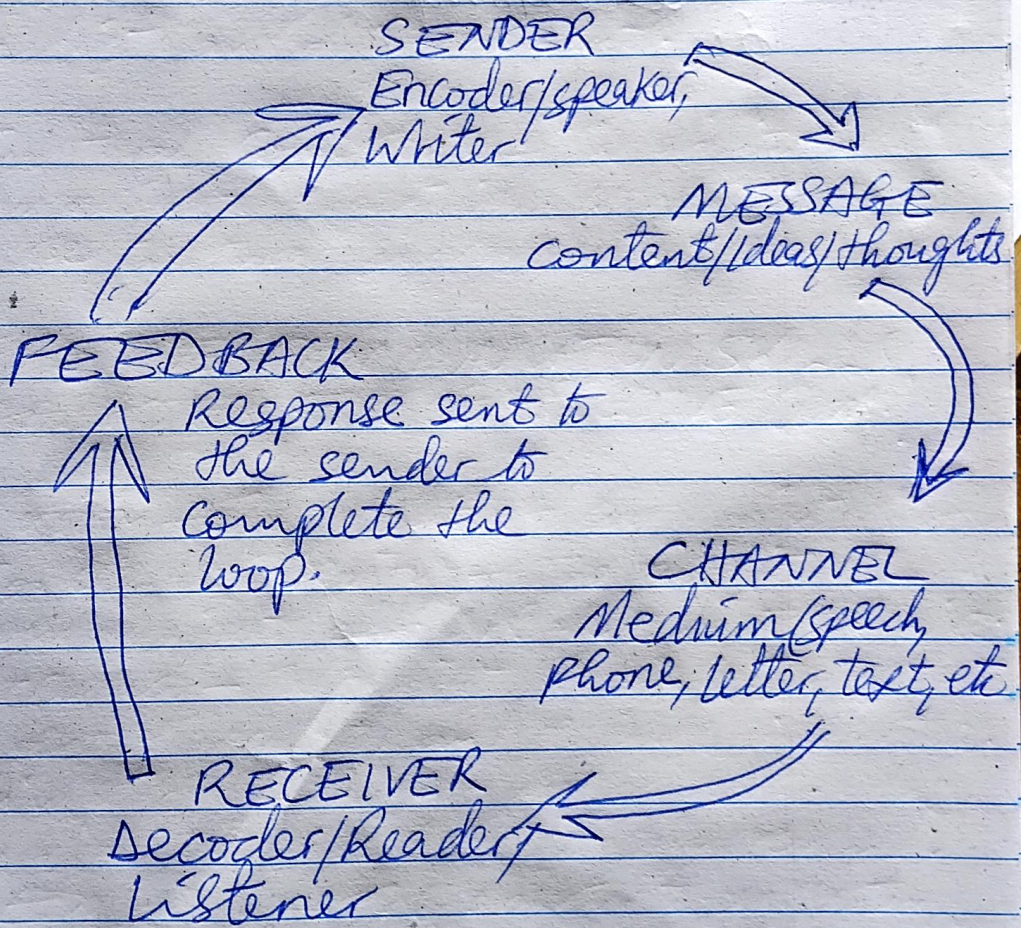

2. Message – The information, idea, content, or thought being conveyed.

3. Channel – The medium or platform used to transmit the message (e.g. speech, text, phone, email, letter, social media, etc.

4. Receiver – The person or entity that receives and interprets the message.

5. Feedback – The response or reaction of the receiver to the sender's message. Feedback completes the communication loop

COMMUNICATION MODEL

IMPORTANCE OF COMMUNICATION

1. Personal Relationships — To build strong personal relationships
2. Professional Success -
3. Conflict Resolution — To resolve conflicts and disagreements
4. Teamwork — To facilitate teamwork and collaboration
5. Leadership — To enhance effective leadership
6.